Thesis evaluation (note): very good

I recommend the thesis for defence: YES

Questions and comments

Critical comments and overall contributions, total value of the thesis

The chosen topic - comparing the conditions for social entrepreneurship in the Czech Republic and France was very difficult due to the lack of comparable data. In the Czech Republic, there is no statistics of social entrepreneurships. Another weakness of work was the low rate of return of the questionnaires - the only one of the each country. Due to these facts the results obtained have only limited validity.

Nevertheless, I appreciate the active approach of the student who worked with the topic with creative commitment.

Questions and topics for discussion before the commission

I have a question as regards the interpretation of social entrepreneurship and unemployment - do you think that your results really revealed the weak connection between these two phenomenon? How could you explain the discrepancies between financial support to social entrepreneurship in Moravskoslezský and Pardubický regions. These both regions have a high level of financial support which does not reflect in number of social businesses.
