Questions and comments

Critical comments and overall contributions, total value of the thesis

The chosen topic and its treatment by the author is very topical and readable. Right in the introduction it is clearly stated what the thesis is about, why she chose the topic, what she wants to find out and what research method she will use. I read the differences between Czechs and Americans with great interest, many of them amused me, like the triple incentive rule. I think the results will have practical application in the KAM organization that was the subject of the research.

Questions and topics for discussion before the commission

Did you find any difference in the interviews , in terms of the quality and honesty of the answers, between the respondents you have known longer (since summer 2019) and those you met only at the internship?

Did you interview 6 people and how many people work in the KAM organization in total ?

Which information about Czechs and Czech culture from the interviews surprised you the most?
