

Průběh obhajoby bakalářské práce:

Ms. Mašková summarized her analysis of Civil War short stories by first relaying the context of the period in which the war took place and the basis for writing about the war which included black and white as well as Northern and Southern perspectives. Ms. Mašková managed to adequately do the plot summaries (though numerous grammar errors were evident) but lacked any kind of penetrating analysis of the stories. She went through the stories by Ambrose Bierce, who had actually fought in the battles his stories depict, but offered more sophisticated perspectives than that of a combatant. Ms. Mašková managed to convey much of the problems inherent in what may be described as historical stories.
